What about the FOOD?

As you already know, A light breakfast and lunch is being planned and prepared by one of our talented and resourceful course participants. The cost of this service has not been factored into the price of the course. This means that the quality and quantity of meals is largely based on what you are able to contribute. This is the perfect opportunity to practice permaculture!

To ensure there is an abundance of food every day we are recommending a donation of $10 per person per day. Better donations result in more quantity and quality of food options for everyone but we understand that not everyone will be able to cover this additional cost... and that is where the permaculture comes in!

We would like to encourage you to BRING FOOD of all kinds with you to the course!

Have a garden in the front yard? - Bring in your harvests and prepare to be hoisted up and carried around on the shoulders of classmates in celebration of your permaculture successes!

Have a CSA subscription to share? - Share the abundance and we'll perform a permaculture parade in your honor!

Have friends who work the farmers market? - Encourage them to donate to this awesome cause of local food sustainability and we'll sing you a song in appreciation!

Pride yourself as an amazing cook? - Put together delightful dishes before the course or help our generous chef in the kitchen and we'll shower you with praises!

All this is to say that there are many ways to contribute and all are welcome, encouraged and will be celebrated by your community!

Remember, if you have very specific dietary needs, or know that you have strong preferences that may be challenging for us to accommodate on a donation budget, please consider bringing food of your own choice. If possible, we are happy to help you prepare food that you've brought to help suit your dietary needs.

IMPORTANT NOTE: We are also wanting to make this course a "no disposal zone" so please bring all your own reusable eating wares. Please bring: Plates, bowls, eating utensils, cloth napkins, etc... being equipped to lead a disposal free lifestyle is a very important skill in embodying the ethics and principles of permaculture.

Camping:

For those of you who have selected the option to camp at Awesome Hollow during the event, Creation Flame has arranged over 30 primitive camp sites to choose from.

Cost is $10 per night due at the start of the course

Portipotties will be available for the duration of the course.

Misters have been installed to help beat the August heat.

Water is available onsite

Evening meals are NOT provided... please be prepared to provide for your own dinner in the evenings!

Limited outdoor showers will be available

BLUE MOON GRADUATION PARTY - August 31st!

In case you didn't already hear, August 31st marks the second full moon of the month! This makes the evening of our graduation celebrations a BLUE MOON! Please be ready to bring a potluck dish and friends as we celebrate our achievements on this very auspicious evening!

Many thanks for sharing in this exciting event with us! We still have some registrations available so if you have any friends or family that might be interested joining us in this adventure please send them to [http://
